Learning Cycle

The Building Blocks ‘learning Cycle’ has been adapted from a model developed by Nick Garrick, Director of Lighting up Learning <http://www.lightinguplearning.com/>. Each unit has been designed to be delivered through four distinct stages, allowing the class to move through a process of entry, immersion, having a go and then closing with a challenge. If a visit to a museum is planned for your topic, please speak to them when you book about which stage of the learning cycle your class will be at when they visit, so they can plan activities accordingly.
